

Sage Dunham

Sage Dunham is a ceramic artist from Salem Oregon who specializes in Raku and functional high-fire stoneware. He gets much of his artistic inspiration from the colors and shapes of nature, especially those found in the beautiful forests and coastlines of the Pacific Northwest.

Sage has a PhD in chemistry, and enjoys combining art and science to create unique glaze formulations and push the limits of glaze and surface effects.

He has been playing with ceramics since his childhood, where he spent many of his days working alongside his mom in her home pottery studio.
